The Mississippi State Congress will enter special session at 1 p.m. on Monday to discuss passing bond issues for economic development.

A large portion of the proposed $103.7 million will go to industries on the Gulf Coast: $40 million to Northrop-Grumman shipyards in Pascagoula and $4.2 million to Stennis Space Center in Hancock County.

At a press conference in Gulfport Thursday, Barbour said he felt it was imperative to pass the bills in special session due to the nature of the state's agreement with Northrop-Grumman. The state

Portion of Hwy. 43 dedicated to Dolph Kellar

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Dedication ceremonies for a segment of Highway 43 in Hancock County to be named the "Alton A. (Dolph) Kellar Memorial Highway" have been set for Thursday, November 18, in Bay St. Louis.

Kellar entered the U.S. Army (Infantry) in June 1941. He was wounded twice in the Battle of New Guinea and received two Purple Hearts for his efforts. He is a lifetime member of the Kiln Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the Bay St. Louis Disabled Veterans. He is also a member of the Bay St. Louis American Legion and has been a Master Mason since 1954.

Kellar was elected and began serving on the Hancock County School Board in 1949, where he served until 1962. During this time, he also served on the Hancock County Soil Conservation Committee and the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee. He was elected and began serving on the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in 1964, where he served six consecutive terms. He was elected again in 1992. During his tenure, he has served with 21 different Supervisors. He was selected to the Executive Committee of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors and served for 16 years. In 1992, he was selected to serve on the Mississippi Legislative Committee for Supervisors.

"Dolph Kellar has been such an asset to transportation in Hancock County," Transportation Commissioner Wayne Brown said. "As a county supervisor, he saw the county grow from dirt roads to super highways. When he began serving as a Supervisor, the only paved roads in the county were the major thoroughfares. Today almost every thru-road has been paved."

Kellar also witnessed the building of the Stennis Space Center. He watched the county grow from its initial dependence on the timber industry to a leading county within the state. Hancock County is recognized for its diversity in educational opportunities and history-making advances with the aerospace industry. He played a part in the growth of the Gulf Coast, as they became a state leader in economic development with shipping, gaming and military areas.

Waveland removes sign blasting road impasse

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The large yellow sign hanging over a group of stores near the Save-a-Center parking lot for the past week or so has been removed by code enforcement employees, said Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo, because the owner did not obtain a proper permit. The city cited the owner for the illegally posted sign and then removed it a couple of days later, Longo said.

The large sign, besides announcing space for lease, implied that Walmart was responsible for the fact that there is no access to Hwy. 603 from its parking lot.

"Of course there is nothing illegal about misinformation," said Longo. "There was nothing factual on the sign, but it was removed because it was in violation of the sign ordinance." Actually, said Longo, an access road planned for the rear of both shopping areas that would have given access to both parking lots from Hwy. 603 was canceled due to protest from area residents. The Walmart project was on a very tight timeline and the issue of the rear access road could have held up the project for months or even years, he said. The city could have even lost the project altogether.

Residents were concerned with possible flooding that the road could create. Negotiations with adjoining property owners failed, and two residents filed a formal appeal with the Corps of Engineers and threatened to file an environmental suit, he said. Walmart sought another alternative for a main entrance and settled on the lighted entrance on Hwy. 90, building an extra retention pond in the rear of the project, Longo said.

The issue of a road to connect the two centers still remains, but the main hold up on that access, said Longo, has been the development of a plan to handle what will be a greatly increased traffic flow to Hwy. 603, said Longo. The corner is already dangerous and has been the scene of numerous accidents as people try to enter the highway or shoot across the highway between shopping centers, he said.

A plan to handle traffic flow on to Hwy. 603 has been developed in conjunction with MDOT, said Longo, and now the city is in negotiations with the property owners in the Save-a-Center (A & P) center to work out the details of the plan.

"It could be tomorrow or it could be much longer," he said. "But it will be opened."

The Save-a-Center shopping area and parking lot was built with private money, said Longo, with builders paying for all infrastructure out of their own pockets.

The same is true of the K-mart center across the street, he said.

The city only recently took over the maintenance of a large pumping station that serves the K-mart center, he said.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas

Remember our vets this Veterans Day

Thursday a.m. should be one of the largest ever Veterans Day celebrations to be held in Hancock County. The reason, the dedication of the World War II Veterans Memorial on the grounds of the Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis.

The Memorial names some 1500 plus from Hancock County who served our nation during World War II.

True, the majority of these men and women are no longer with us, yet, there are still a good number, and when you bring in the thousands of their decedents, a law attendance should be on hand.

I know that Leo Seal, Jr., the driving force behind the special Memorial, and his memorial committee, have been working very hard to secure the names of all those who called Hancock County their home during World War II.

The Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139, with co-host Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77, are sponsoring a Veterans Day parade Thursday, starting at 10

The staging area is Carroll Avenue at Second Street, then proceed to Beach Blvd., Beach to Main Street, then Main to the Hancock County Courthouse for the Memorial's Dedication.

Bill Moran is the Veterans Day parade chairman and reports that Rear Admiral Thomas Donaldson, USN retired, and now manager of the John C. Stennis Space Center, of Diamondhead is the keynote speaker.

Local school bands and students, Veteran groups, Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts, Jr. ROTCs, organizations, etc. are to join in the march.

The parade will be in honor of World War II Veterans and there will be three floats for them to ride if they desire.

The Memorial contains the names of all Veterans from the era which research revealed, yet, Seal says there is a space for other names which may have been missed to be added, if discovered.

All citizens should participate in this great Veterans Day celebration to honor all of those from Hancock County, who gave so much for our nation's freedom.

Values and Voters go together

The election results show that Americans are patriots, people of faith who love our nation and fully support the men and women who defend it. Voters confirmed Tuesday that we don't want to be some government-dependent, value-neutral, secular and internationalist nation. Rather, we'd like to see a strong, sovereign, confident America with a resolute President descended from the political lineage of Ronald Reagan.

Values. Now I've known John Kerry for many years, and I believe he has faith and loves our nation, too. However, among his very liberal base, moral values and support for America, specifically our troops in the field, just were not apparent in this election. Far too many of Senator Kerry's supporters associated themselves with "discredited America-bashers" like Michael Moore, instead of more thoughtful and credible moderate leaders like my friend Senator Joe Lieberman.

Some believe America is bitterly divided when it comes to values or that it's a meaningless word that can't be defined. I don't see it that way.

The overwhelming support of traditional marriage by 11 states, including Mississippi, shows us that while our membership in political parties may be split, a huge majority of Americans respect faith and recognize the traditional structures which shaped our country.

Most Americans in both "red" and "blue" states reject and resent the message being sent by Hollywood and some in the media that values are subjective, to be defined by the individual and not by God. Well, that's just the opposite of what our Founding Fathers said. They envisioned a nation that recognizes liberty as an endowment, not by mankind and government, but by God. They, too, defined a nation where freedom has certain responsibilities that come with it. Voters rejected the narrow labels some elites have tried to tag on us. Many Americans resent our home states being called "flyover country." In fact, the election results show that their labels are worthless. Many people of all ethnic and religious backgrounds nationwide recognized that common values can indeed be defined, and they do indeed matter at the ballot box.

Patriotism. For many elites in the entertainment industry, academic community and in the big national media, patriotism by "flag wavers" is a hokey, outdated concept. Yet, voters see it much differently. From Abu Ghraib to Al Qaeda, liberals tried to insinuate sinister things about America and our troops during the election season - all for political gain. It backfired. Our military isn't perfect, but it's about as close to perfect as humanly possible.

Overwhelmingly, our men and women in uniform are very competent people. I've met many of them, and I sincerely believe they are among the best forces in American history. In Iraq, Afghanistan and throughout our history, they've stood as very capable liberators - far from the bumbling, unwanted, occupier image some tried to sell. The bashing by some liberals of traditional America and President Bush before other nations throughout the globe only served to turn out conservative and moderate voters in record numbers. Election eve threats by Osama Bin Laden against states that voted for President Bush didn't scare Americans but instead has made us more determined than ever to win the War on Terror. We know that this war really has no boundaries. Whether in

Veterans should form their own party

Dear Editor:

"We are tired of getting lip service and treated like a second or third class citizen in this country by our own government. The Veterans of the United States are forming their own National Political Party, The Veterans Party of America, to right the many wrongs handed down over the last 150 years.

Veterans need to become a segment of society that this government will recognize as a voting body and not one the government can just take billions of dollars from each year with no recourse in dealing with because of the second or third class citizenry status of the Veterans.

Olde Towne Players present 'The Exonerated' today

THE ECHO
Kerry Max Cook was gang-raped in prison. His beloved older brother was shot and killed while Kerry was imprisoned. Their mother blamed Kerry for his death.

Delbert Tibbs slept like a baby in prison but couldn't sleep for three days after he was released.

John Gauger unraveled pieces of material for thread and taught himself embroidery to pass his time in prison.

Robert Earl Hayes was housed on a floor above the electric chair. Every Wednesday, he could hear it buzz when they cranked it up to test it.

Sunny Jacobs and her husband, who were kept in different prisons, used a Japanese dictionary to exchange love notes to each other.

David Keaton was in high school when he was arrested one Sunday. He was not taken before a judge to face charges until the next Friday.

These six real-life people all spent time on death row for crimes they did not commit.

As Kerry says, "If it happened to me, man, it can happen to anyone."

The Coast premiere of "The Exonerated," produced by Olde Towne Players and sponsored by Dunbar Village, will be staged at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Playhouse on Boardman Avenue at 2 p.m. today, Sunday.

The play, geared for mature audiences because of its content and strong language, tells the stories of six innocent people who were convicted of murder, sentenced to death and exonerated after spending years on death row in various prisons throughout the United States.

The play describes not only their arrests, police interrogations and convictions but how life on death row affected them and the aftermath of their wrongful convictions.

"The Exonerated" won both the Drama Desk and Outer Critics Circle Awards in 2003.

Tickets are $7 at the door.

Olde Towne Players will donate a portion of proceeds from the production to the Center on Wrongful Convictions at the Northwestern University of Law in Chicago, a tax-exempt organization whose mission is to identify and rectify wrongful convictions and reform our criminal justice system.

Penn National, Casino Magic owner, to acquire Argosy Gaming Company

BY VICKI SMITH
Associated Press Writer
CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Penn National Gaming Inc. is acquiring Argosy Gaming Co. for $1.4 billion cash in an effort to turn itself into the nation's third-largest operator of gambling properties.

Penn National owns Boomtown Casino in Biloxi and Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis.

The company, based in Wyomissing, Pa., said Wednesday it will pay $47 per share for Argosy stock, a 15 percent premium to Argosy's closing price of $40.75 per share before the deal was announced. Penn National will also assume $805 million of Argosy's long-term debt.

If the deal is approved by regulators and Argosy stockholders, Penn National would have more than $2 billion in annual revenues, more than 20,000 slot machines and about 700,000 square feet of casino space at 13 properties.

Only casino giants MGM-Mirage Inc. and Harrah's Entertainment Inc. would be larger.

Penn National CEO Peter M. Carlino said the merger gives his company a presence in nearly every regional gambling market.

The company owns a West Virginia racetrack and casino, the Mississippi casinos, and properties in Louisiana, Colorado and Illinois.

Both companies have excellent, long-term records of growth ... and both entities have proven their ability to identify growth and expansion opportunities, which create exciting entertainment destinations and value for shareholders," Carlino said late Wednesday.

Argosy, based in Alton, Ill., owns and operates casinos in Illinois, Missouri, Louisiana, Iowa and Indiana. It reported net revenues of about $1 billion for the 12 months ending Sept. 30 and earnings before interest, taxes and depreciation of $260 million.

The deal would double Penn National's revenues and gives the company the ability to further diversify.

Argosy CEO Richard J. Glasier said the deal is good for stockholders and employees.

"We are confident that our properties will continue to generate impressive operating results as part of the Penn National platform," he said.

The sale is expected to close in the second half of 2005.

Iraq, Afghanistan or anywhere else, the War on Terror will be pursued without intermission, and freedom will prevail.

Of course, anyone can analyze these election results in a sterile, mechanical way all day long - looking at the demographics of the turnout, where it rained or where the lines were long. But ultimately this election, as any election, came down to some basic core issues. Voters spoke clearly.

They said we are a nation where values are important, where we take pride in our faith, ourselves, our country and the men and women who defend it.

Some of the residents of the subdivision's Mallard Point, and Quail Ridge neighborhoods are seeking the zoning change to restrict the movement of mobile homes into the area. Barbara Franceski presented a petition that she said contained the names of 91 out of 173 property owners in Mallard Point. All the signers were in favor of a zoning change, said Franceski.

Residents speaking in favor of the change in zoning cited protecting property values and investments, and a quality life style, as the main reasons for requesting the change. Franceski said she had paid over $300,000 for her house and could not afford to lose the value of her investment. She said mobile homes threatened that investment.

Others did not agree. "I'm a hard working man and should have the right to upgrade my home," said Quail Ridge resident Bruce Gonsalves who said his family could only afford a mobile home. "I feel we are being discriminated against because we don't have $300,000 to build a home ... our home looks just like a (frame) home ... we all have to start somewhere."

Gonsalves said many families cannot afford anything but an upgrade to a better mobile home. Attorney for developer Robert Poirier, Kelly Rayburn, said that mobile home outnumber frame homes in the subdivision.

In other business: • Commissioners tabled a decision on allowing an exception for a Casino

Special Use District slated to be located at the foot of Poinset St. in Clermont Harbor until a December 2 meeting. South Beach Casino and Resort, LLC is proposing a fourteen-story, two tower hotel and casino development at that location. The project would also include a ten-story parking garage behind the hotel towers. Developer Kirk Ladner said the 100 foot concrete wall of the parking garage would act as a noise buffer for the residential community located directly behind. Ladner said he would present the board with a formal traffic impact study, and master plan at the December meeting. Clermont Harbor Civic Association president Millie Usher said she would like to see another requirement, a study establishing the compatibility of the development with surrounding neighborhoods, presented to the board before a decision is made.

Earlier this week Ladner told the Board of Supervisors that he also has plans for a 20-story condominium project, not far from the casino, on Beach Blvd. Outside investors would be involved in both projects, Ladner said.

• The board approved a site plan for a 43,000 sq. foot building for food, entertainment, shops and more in association with the Silver Slipper Casino project at Bayou Caddy at the Oct. 28 meeting. Investor Cliff McCarlie said construction could begin on the building as early as the end of the month.

Barbour

had previously agreed to give the shipyards $48 million a year for three years, and the shipyards agreed to invest twice that amount.

Barbour said that Northrop-Grumman would vote to continue spending before the state legislature entered regular session in January.

"It is imperative that before that meeting takes place that the legislature passes the bonds."

Barbour said he would like to see the state cut down on issuing bonds in the next few years. He said Mississippi's debt has risen greatly in the past few years, topping off at $3.2 billion.

"My goal is to have no more bonds, except for job creation," he said.

Barbour added that passing the NASA bond issue was dependent on Stennis being selected as a site for a new operations center. He stressed that it was critical to maintain Mississippi's reputation as a reliable partner for economic development.

While Barbour said that these two bonds were the main reason for calling a special session, he said that he would like to resolve other bond issues, such as capital improvements for higher education; which amount to nearly $300 million, and a settlement on the Ayers Case that comes to $30 million.

He also said that topics like Medicaid would not come up during the special session, as they were not relevant to issues on bonds.

Others are less enthusiastic about the prospect of a special session seven weeks before the legislature regularly convenes.

Dirk Dedeaux, state representative for district 93, Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone Counties, said the business that Barbour proposed could have easily waited until January.

"I think that the main concern that people have is that the governor is proposing to borrow several million dollars during a special session. If he would wait seven more weeks until the main session, we would be in a better position."

Dedeaux said the state had been fulfilling its financial commitments to Northrop-Grumman and NASA so far. Both institutions have already received millions of dollars in state funding.

53 receive 'Light of Christ' awards at cathedral

"How blessed we in the Diocese of Biloxi are by you...who we honor today with the Lumen Christi Award," Most Reverend Thomas Rodi, Bishop of Biloxi, told the award recipients who gathered Sunday, Oct. 10 at Nativity BVM Cathedral at a 3 p.m. Prayer Service where they received their awards.

For the third year, Bishop Rodi asked each pastor of every parish and mission in the Diocese of Biloxi to name a parishioner from his parish to receive the Lumen Christi (Light of Christ) Award. The Lumen Christi Award recognizes those whose service has been deemed exceptional.

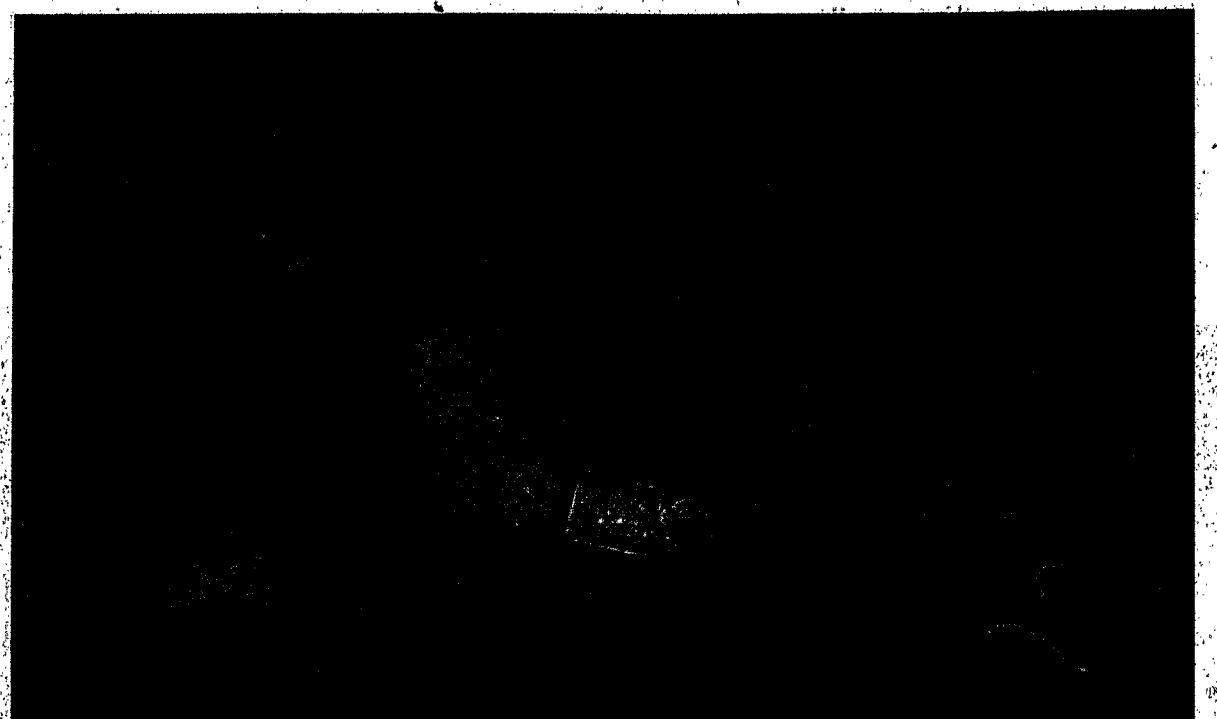

Bishop Rodi established the award in 2001, during the 25th anniversary year of the establishment of the Diocese of Biloxi, saying he wanted to recognize those whose loyalty, work and faith have been outstanding in their local church community.

The name of the diocesan medal is Lumen Christi, or Light of Christ, Bishop Rodi said, because recipients' lives "truly reflect the light of Christ's love."

We celebrate Christ's life and Christ's light here in us," the bishop said. "We are celebrating the love of Christ, His presence in each one of us."

Bishop Rodi reminded the congregation that Pope John Paul II has proclaimed this next year to be the "Year of the Eucharist."

"Eucharist unites us and gives us the dignity of being sons and daughters of God, and reminds us we are brothers and sister to one another," he said.

"I thank you for your light and here we praise God that in all you do—in the way your light shines—others will give glory to God," he told the award recipients.

Deaconesses convene at Gulfside Assembly

BY BENNIE

Members of the American Association of Deaconesses and Missionaries and Diaconia of the America's and Caribbean met for four days at Gulfside Methodist Assembly this past weekend. The retreat was an opportunity for many to reconnect with one another and recommit to the ministry that each follows in daily life.

The diaconate originated in Europe and was introduced to America through the Lutheran Church. It later spread to other churches. In the 1890's the office of Deaconess was first recognized, when ordinary people saw the need to address societal issues and needs brought about by the industrial revolution.

The women say they are called to the service, but do not feel the calling to enter an ordained ministry. The position of Deaconess allows them another choice for service. They work directly under the jurisdiction of the church in any number of helping professions, in ministry's of service to the community.

Many people may perform the same or similar service to the community, but the position of Deaconess is a formal recognition of those efforts.

About 130 women gathered at the retreat, coming from all across the U.S. to come together to realize the good work that is in progress and to talk about the work that still needs to be done. The membership ranged from the newly commissioned to women with 50 and more years of service. Events included prayer groups, workshops, and story telling. The women have a formal gathering every two years.

Marion Martin, the director of Gulfside Assembly has served in the position of Deaconess for close to 30 years.

had previously agreed to give the shipyards $48 million a year for three years, and the shipyards agreed to invest twice that amount.

Barbour said that Northrop-Grumman would vote to continue spending before the state legislature entered regular session in January.

"It is imperative that before that meeting takes place that the legislature passes the bonds."

Barbour said he would like to see the state cut down on issuing bonds in the next few years. He said Mississippi's debt has risen greatly in the past few years, topping off at $3.2 billion.

"My goal is to have no more bonds, except for job creation," he said.

Barbour added that passing the NASA bond issue was dependent on Stennis being selected as a site for a new operations center. He stressed that it was critical to maintain Mississippi's reputation as a reliable partner for economic development.

While Barbour said that these two bonds were the main reason for calling a special session, he said that he would like to resolve other bond issues, such as capital improvements for higher education, which amount to nearly $300 million, and a settlement on the Ayers Case that comes to $30 million.

He also said that topics like Medicaid would not come up during the special session, as they were not relevant to issues on bonds.

Others are less enthusiastic about the prospect of a special session seven weeks before the legislature regularly convenes.

Dirk Dedeaux, state representative for district 93, Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone Counties, said the business that Barbour proposed could have easily waited until January.

"I think that the main concern that people have is that the governor is proposing to borrow several million dollars during a special session. If he would wait seven more weeks until the main session, we would be in a better position."

Dedeaux said the state had been fulfilling its financial commitments to Northrop-Grumman and NASA so far. Both institutions have already received millions of dollars in state funding.

"I'm in favor of doing what we need to do to provide these things. I question the timeliness of the special session," Dedeaux said.

SSC wins first playoff game with 57-8 rout of PRC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (9-1) took a step into uncharted waters with their 57-8 thrashing of the Pearl River Central Blue Devils (6-5) in between the walls' on Friday night. The Division 8-4A champions won a playoff game for the first time in school history and they did it, convincingly.

It was a complete team effort on both sides of the ball. The offense clicked all game long and did not have to punt once. The defense held one of the state's most feared rushers to just 74 yards. On offense, SSC threw for seven touchdowns and 496 yards. Defensively, the Rocks kept their streak of nine consecutive games without allowing 100 yards rushing intact as they gave up only 92 yards on the ground.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann commented, "I am extremely proud of the effort that was displayed tonight. During the season, we have not been able to put together two solid halves of football; however, tonight we did. The work ethic and dedication of this team showed tonight. The players on this team are a tough and resilient family. The coaching staff has continued to put together some solid gameplans. We now face a big week of practice to get ready for a very solid South Pike squad."

Several top marks were set in Friday's game. Lance Cuevas threw for 406 yards and six touchdowns with both being single-game marks. His six touchdown passes gave him 27 scoring strikes for the season which breaks the previous record of 24 set by Paul Gravolet in 1968. On the season, he has now thrown for 2,206 yards.

Stefan Sofianos had four catches for 169 yards and four touchdowns. His four scores is a single-game record for touchdown receptions. His fourth scoring reception covered 90 yards which is the longest pass play in Rock football. The pass was thrown by backup signal caller Chad Boos.

Michael Cure's touchdown catch in the second quarter tied the all-time touchdown reception record of 16 set by Freddie Wirstrom in 1987. Cure finished the night with nine catches for 137 yards while Floyd Dedeaux picked up four passes for 138 yards.

SSC opened the game on offense and Cuevas went right to the airwaves hitting Floyd Dedeaux for a 15-yard gain. Two plays later, the same combo combined for a 29-yard gain. The seventh play of the drive resulted in a 23-yard scoring strike to Sofianos with 6:27 left in the first quarter. Bryce Morreale made the score 7-0 with his PAT.

The Rock defense held firm on PRC's first series led by J.C. Brignone, Bret Bentz and Brenan Gordon on the Rock front line.

SSC took over on their own 48 yardline. Josh Duplessis and Jordan Ellis alternated at carrying the pigskin for gains of 3, 13 and 5 yards while Cuevas threw two strikes to Cure for gains of 9 and 6 yards.

The final play of the seven-play drive was a 16-yard scoring pass from Cuevas to Sofianos with 4:14 left in the first quarter. Morreale connected on the PAT for a 14-0 lead.

The Rock defense went back to work on Seth Hayden on the ensuing series. Hayden, who had rushed for 2,345 yards prior to the game game, was stuffed by Lee Klein and Ellis on two carries which forced a punting situation.

The Rocks moved the ball behind the running of Duplessis and Klein before an errant Rock pass stalled the drive. Morreale booted a 26-yard field goal with :29 left in the opening quarter for a 17-0 lead.

Mike Deifik, Mike Cure and Lee Klein led the way on defense for SSC on the next series. Hayden managed a first-down on two carries for eight yards each; however, Cure made sure to put the Blue Devils into a punting situation throwing a Blue Devil running back for a 7-yard loss on third down.

Following the punt, the Rocks took over at their own 26 yardline. It took just six plays to put the Rocks back on the board. Following a couple of incomplete passes, Ellis ripped off a 14-yard run. Two pass plays to Cure for gains of 19 and 11 yards set up Cuevas' third touchdown pass of the game to Sofianos which went for 40 yards. The pass came with 7:53 left in the first half. The Rocks tried a 2-point conversion which failed leaving the score at 23-0.

The Blue Devils were unable to convert on their next series and had to punt back to SSC. The drive lasted all of three plays before SSC lit the scoreboard up again. Duplessis had a gain of 9 yards followed by Ellis bulldozing his way forward for 16 yards. Cuevas hit Cure in stride for a 29-yard scoring strike with 4:19 left in the first half. Morreale added the PAT for a 30-0 lead.

The Blue Devils got on the scoreboard on their next drive that covered four plays. Hayden had a gain of seven yards followed by an Adam Robin pass to Cody Ladner for 20 yards. Robin stayed in the airwaves with an 18-yard pass to Damon Kirkland on the next play. Hayden broke free off-tackle on the next play for a 22-yard score with 2:08 left before halftime. The two-point conversion for Hayden was good making the score 30-8.

The Rocks cut their next drive down to two plays and scored on the second snap. Cuevas stayed on the airwaves as he threw a 27-yard aerial to Cure. He followed that with a 38-yard scoring strike to Floyd Dedeaux with 1:28 left before half-time. Morreale converted on the PAT to make the score 37-8 at halftime.

The Blue Devils came out on offense first in the second half and continued to harass the PRC offense. The Blue Devils gained a first down with a 17-yard pass from Robin to Daniel Massey; however, Zach Elkins stopped the drive on the next play with an interception at the Rock 8 yardline.

SSC continued with the passing game as Cuevas hooked up with Cure on three plays for gains of 14, 9 and 13 yards. Cuevas connected with Dedeaux for a 56-yard gain on the next play that set up a 7-yard run by Ellis with 5:46 left in the third quarter. The PAT by Morreale was good making the score 44-8.

The Blue Devils, however, were unable to hold onto the ball to start their next drive. Ellis pounced on the loose ball to give SSC possession on the Blue Devil 41 yardline.

On this drive, it took SSC just one play to score. Josh Morgan hauled in a 41-yard scoring pass from Cuevas with 5:28 left in the half. Matt Kivlan converted on the PAT to make the score 51-8.

The Blue Devils put together their most productive drive of the second half on the ensuing possession. Solid gains by Hayden moved the chains for a Blue Devil first down. However, an incomplete pass stalled the drive and PRC lined up for a punt. The ball was fumbled by the Rocks and recovered at the Rock 26 yardline by PRC.

The Blue Devils were unable to move the ball and turned the ball following a punt to the Rock six yardline. Duplessis gained four yards for SSC on the first play. Chad Boos threw to Sofianos on second down and the Rock receiver broke two tackles en route to a 90-yard scoring strike with 10:46 left in the game. Kivlan missed on the PAT leaving the final score 57-8.

The Rocks stopped the Blue Devils on three consecutive passing attempts to take control of the ball at the PRC 40 yardline. The junior variety offense moved the ball down to the PRC 2 yardline where the Rocks kneeled to run the final minute off the clock.

The 9 wins in 2004 for SSC marks the first 9-win season for the Rocks since 1967. The Rocks will host South Pike on Friday, November 12 in the second round of the state playoffs. SSC has advanced to the state playoffs five times since 1982. Of those five trips to the postseason, SSC has played and been ousted by South Pike three times.

Game time is set for 7pm in between the walls' at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. See you at the game!

Tigers can't stop the Rebels

BY MAURICE
SINGLETON
Contributing Writer

The Bay High Tigers appeared poised at times to be up for the challenge at George County on Friday night, but the Rebels were on more often in their 40-8 dominating win over the Tigers in the first round of the State 4A playoffs.

On the second play from scrimmage, Corbin Blaize connected with Lorenzo Lewis for a 29-yard gain all the way to the George County 35 yardline. But on the very next play, Blaize was intercepted and returned 66 yards to the Tigers 14 yardline. The Rebels scored on their first play from scrimmage and were up 7-0 with 10:31 remaining on the first quarter clock.

Robert Labat returned the ensuing kickoff 28 yards, giving the Tigers excellent field position at midfield. But the Tigers wouldn't get any further than the George County 47 and Tony Marino punted for the Tigers.

The Rebels started at their own 21 yardline and effectively executed the run, including a 31-yard carry by Reginald Scott to the Tigers 11 yardline. Aaron Johnson broke free between the tackles on the next play to extend the lead to 13-0.

The Tigers got off another spectacular special teams play on the ensuing kickoff as Lewis found running lanes good for 41 yards to the Tigers 45 yardline. But again the Tigers failed to capitalize on good field position as Blaize was intercepted for the second time in the opening quarter.

The Rebels capitalized as Jordan Scott connected with the talented Co-Eric Riley for a 51-yard touchdown pass play, giving the home team a 19-0 lead after the Tigers stuffed the 2-point conversion attempt.

The Tigers shut out the Rebels scoring machine for the remainder of the first half, more than 16 minutes, but the Tigers offense wasn't successful getting into the end zone. Tyler Brush connected with Lewis for a 25 yard pass play to the Rebels' 22 yardline. Antonio Hawkins picked up two yards on first down and Brush kept it for 6 yards to the 14 yardline on second down, but that was as close as the Tigers would get in the first half as Hawkins was stopped at the line of scrimmage on third down, and Brush passed incomplete as the Tigers went for it on fourth down.

The Rebels started the second half the same way they started the first half, converting their first possession - an 8-play drive - into a score. The Rebels led 26-0.

Lewis returned the ensuing kickoff with another good kickoff return, a 30-yard return to the Tigers 35. Brush found Brad Ladner for a 16-yard pass completion and the Tigers were in Rebels' territory at the 49. Hawkins was on the receiving end of two Brush passes on second and third down for gains of 4 and 5 yards, but Brush failed to pick up the first down on a quarterback keeper on fourth down.

The Rebels scored two more times, taking a 40-0 lead with just over five minutes to play in the game.

Following that score the Tigers put together their most impressive drive of the night as Brush connected with Destin Thomas for a 30-yard touchdown strike. Brush then found Ladner just over the goal line for the successful 2-point conversion.

Hawks fall to Hattiesburg 35-14 to end season

BY DWAYNE BREMER
Contributing Writer

The Hancock Hawks completed the 2004 football season with a 35-14 loss to the Hattiesburg Tigers. The Hawks (1-10), played well in the first half, and fought hard throughout the contest. The Hawks racked up 398 yards of total offense, but mistakes in the red zone and the running of Tiger back Jonathan Kirksey doomed the Hawks. Kirksey ran for 396 yards on 27 carries and scored all five Tiger touchdowns.

"I hate to see the season end for these kids. We have come a long way since the start of the season, and I'm really proud of the hard work and effort that the team has put out," said Hawks head Coach Walt Esslinger.

The Hawks took the opening kickoff and put together a nice drive to start the game. Ronnie Thomas started things off with a four-yard run, and a penalty gave the Hawks a first down.

Braxton Necaise then connected with Andrew Smith on a 21-yard pass play giving the Hawks another first down.

Mark Fairley then ran for six and ten-yard runs, and Chase Mciver gave the Hawks another first down with a seven-yard end around. John Lacoste pounded out nine yards to the Tiger one-yard line, and Fairley scored on the next play. Justin Ratcliff added the point after and the Hawks had the lead 7-0 with 7:01 to play in the first.

The Tigers quickly responded with a seven-play drive that netted 70 yards.

Kirksey scored his first touchdown from eight yards out, and after Chris Hunt added the point after, the Tigers had evened the score 7-7.

The Hawks took the kickoff and Ryan Baker returned it back 21-yards to the 28. Thomas took a pitch 13 yards and a facemask call gave the Hawks another five yards. After a five-yard run by Fairley, Andrew Smith took off on a 40-yard rumble. Smith's run brought the ball down to the ten-yard line. Two plays later Fairley scored from six yards out. Ratcliff's extra point gave the Hawks a 14-7 lead with 1:56 to play in the first.

The Tigers turned back to their workhorse Kirksey on their next drive. Kirksey had runs of 11, 44, 3, and 5 before scoring a 19-yard touchdown. The point after tied the score at 14-14.

Kirksey struck again on the Tigers next drive, as he scooted in on a 24-yard run. With 8:16 to play in the half, the Tigers led 21-14.

The Hawks took over at the ten after the kickoff, and continued to move the ball. Smith broke free for a 17-yard gain, and Fairley picked up a first down with a 14-yard run. Smith and Fairley combined for another first down, and a penalty on the Tigers gave the Hawks a first down at the 12. Two plays later the Hawks were faced with a third and five from the seven. Necaise ran around the end for what appeared to be a first down, but a holding penalty set the Hawks back to the 20. Necaise was sacked on the next play, and the Hawks were forced to give up the ball.

The Tigers made a rush for another score before the half as they took the ball down to the Hawks 21. With :13 seconds left, Tiger quarterback Cedrick Jones scrambled for five yards to the 16, but Alex Toups made the tackle in bounds and the clock ran out on the Tigers. The half ended 21-14.

The Tigers took the second half kickoff and started at the 20. After two short runs, the Tigers faced a third and six. Kirksey got the call, and he broke free for a 71-yard touchdown run. The extra point was good and the Tigers led 28-14.

The Hawks got the ball back at the 24 after the kickoff. After a short loss, Necaise hooked up with Justin Kopf for a 21-yard pickup and a first down. Fairley ran for six yards and Smith pounded out a 10-yard run for a first down to the 43. The Hawks picked up another first down when Necaise ran for seven yards on a fourth and one. Four plays later the Hawks had a first and goal at the Tigers seven. The Hawks could not punch it in, however, as a bad snap was recovered by Jermaine Jackson of the Tigers at the 2.

The Tigers moved the ball downfield and after seven plays they were faced with a third and seven at the own 45. Jones ran a perfect option play in which he pitched to Kirksey, and Kirksey took it the rest of the way for a 55-yard touchdown. The point after made the score 35-14 with 11:04 left in the game.

The teams would trade possessions, and with just over two minutes left the Hawks took over for the last time at their own eight.

Necaise connected with Mciver for a 15-yard pass, and then Necaise found Kopf again this time for a big play of 51-yards. Necaise looked for Kopf again, and a pass interference call gave the Hawks a first down at the 27. Necaise would scramble twice for gains of seven and nine, and on the last play of the game, Necaise was intercepted in the end zone.

Necaise completed four of 14 passes for 108 yards and he ran for 18 more yards. Fairley had 138 yards on 27 carries and Smith chipped in with 108 yards.

"I felt like we were in the game, we just had trouble with the speed, and the mistakes hurt," Esslinger said.

The Hawks said goodbye to thirteen seniors Friday night. Justin Ratcliff was the kicker for two years. Justin Kopf led the team in receiving yards this year. Andrew Warhay played both offense and defense in his three years. Alex Toups had a solid year on defense recording three sacks. John Lacoste was the Hawks best player on defense. The three-year starter collected over 70 tackles. Paul Verdin was an effective punter as well as playing offense. Scott Nesom played four years and was the anchor of the offensive line for the Hawks. Travis Hall, Chance Seals, and Kalan Cuevas all played well on the offensive line, which was the Hawks best unit throughout the year. E.J. Jarvis had a good senior season on the defensive line. Justin Williams played on offense and special teams, and recorded a touchdown this year. Anthony Lind started at tight end and was an important lineman, especially on the Hawks favorite play the power pitch.

"Our seniors were a great group. Their leadership was important in keeping the team together, and they really made the school proud," Esslinger said.

The Hawks will look at the 2004 season as a rebuilding year, but one that cannot be forgotten in terms of the character of the team. With all of the things that kids can be distracted with, not one kids quit the 2004 team.

The team remained in good spirits and their love for the game showed even all season.

"This is one of my favorite teams, I'm not just saying that because I like the kids, but the heart and effort was there all season. We have a lot to look forward too in the coming seasons," Esslinger said.

The Hawks outlook on the future is going to be a bright one. One advantage to a rebuilding year is that the Hawks have found a wealth of new talent.

The young Hawks have gained experience and confidence, and in nine months they will be back.

"We're going to work out hard, and try to become more physical. I think the kids picked up the offensive and we are going to work on all areas of the game," Esslinger said.

left in the opening quarter for a 17-0 lead.

Mike Deifik, Mike Cure and Lee Kleing led the way on defense for SSC on the next series. Hayden managed a first-down on two carries for eight yards each; however, Cure made sure to put the Blue Devils into a punting situation throwing a Blue Devil running back for a 7-yard loss on third down.

Following the punt, the Rocks took over at their own 26 yardline. It took just six plays to put the Rocks back on the board. Following a couple of incomplete passes, Ellis ripped off a 14-yard run. Two pass plays to Cure for gains of 19 and 11 yards set up Cuevas' third touchdown pass of the game to Sofianos which went for 40 yards. The pass came with 7:53 left in the first half. The Rocks tried a 2-point conversion which failed leaving the score at 23-0.

The Blue Devils were unable to convert on their next series and had to punt back to SSC. The drive lasted all of three plays before SSC lit the scoreboard up again. Duplessis had a gain of 9 yards followed by Ellis bulldozing his way forward for 16 yards. Cuevas hit Cure in stride for a 29-yard scoring strike with 4:19 left in the first half. Morreale added the PAT for a 30-0 lead.

The Blue Devils got on the scoreboard on their next drive that covered four plays. Hayden had a gain of seven yards followed by an Adam Robin pass to Cody Ladner for 20 yards. Robin stayed in the airwaves with an 18-yard pass to Damon Kirkland on the next play. Hayden broke free off-tackle on the next play for a 22-yard score with 2:08 left before halftime. The two-point conversion for Hayden was good making the score 30-8.

The Rocks cut their next drive down to two plays and scored on the second snap. Cuevas stayed on the airwaves as he threw a 27-yard aerial to Cure. He followed that with a 38-yard scoring strike to Floyd Dedeaux with 1:28 left before halftime. Morreale converted on the PAT to make the score 37-8 at halftime.

The Blue Devils came out on offense first in the second half and continued to harass the PRC offense. The Blue Devils gained a first down with a 17-yard pass from Robin to Daniel Massey; however, Zach Elkins stopped the drive on the next play with an interception at the Rock 8 yardline.

SSC continued with the passing game as Cuevas hooked up with Cure on three plays for gains of 14, 9 and 13 yards. Cuevas connected with Dedeaux for a 56-yard gain on the next play that set up a 7-yard run by Ellis with 5:46 left in the third quarter. The PAT by Morreale was good making the score 44-8.

The Blue Devils, however, were unable to hold onto the ball to start their next drive. Ellis pounced on the loose ball to give SSC possession on the Blue Devil 41 yardline.

On this drive, it took SSC just one play to score. Josh Morgan hauled in a 41-yard scoring pass from Cuevas with 5:28 left in the half. Matt Kivlan converted on the PAT to make the score 51-8.

The Blue Devils put together their most productive drive of the second half on the ensuing possession. Solid gains by Hayden moved the chains for a Blue Devil first down. However, an incomplete pass stalled the drive and PRC lined up for a punt. The ball was fumbled by the Rocks and recovered at the Rock 26 yardline by PRC.

The Blue Devils were unable to move the ball and turned the ball following a punt to the Rock six yardline. Duplessis gained four yards for SSC on the first play. Chad Boos threw to Sofianos on second down and the Rock receiver broke two tackles en route to a 90-yard scoring strike with 10:46 left in the game. Kivlan missed on the PAT leaving the final score 57-8.

The Rocks stopped the Blue Devils on three consecutive passing attempts to take control of the ball at the PRC 40 yardline. The junior varsity offense moved the ball down to the PRC 2 yardline where the Rocks kneeled to run the final minute off the clock.

The 9 wins in 2004 for SSC marks the first 9-win season for the Rocks since 1967. The Rocks will host South Pike on Friday, November 12 in the second round of the state playoffs. SSC has advanced to the state playoffs five times since 1982. Of those five trips to the postseason, SSC has played and been ousted by South Pike three times.

Game time is set for 7pm 'in between the walls' at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. See you at the game!

Tigers can't stop the Rebels

BY MAURICE
SINGLETON
Contributing Writer

The Bay High Tigers appeared poised at times to be up for the challenge at George County on Friday night, but the Rebels were on more often in their 40-8 dominating win over the Tigers in the first round of the State 4A playoffs.

On the second play from scrimmage, Corbin Blaize connected with Lorenzo Lewis for a 29-yard gain all the way to the George County 35 yardline. But on the very next play, Blaize was intercepted and returned 66 yards to the Tigers 14 yardline. The Rebels scored on their first play from scrimmage and were up 7-0 with 10:31 remaining on the first quarter clock.

Robert Labat returned the ensuing kickoff 28 yards, giving the Tigers excellent field position at midfield. But the Tigers wouldn't get any further than the George County 47 and Tony Marino punted for the Tigers.

The Rebels started at their own 21 yardline and effectively executed the run, including a 31-yard carry by Reginald Scott to the Tigers 11 yardline. Aaron Johnson broke free between the tackles on the next play to extend the lead to 13-0.

The Tigers got off another spectacular special teams play on the ensuing kickoff as Lewis found running lanes good for 41 yards to the Tigers 45 yardline. But again the Tigers failed to capitalize on good field position as Blaize was intercepted for the second time in the opening quarter.

The Rebels capitalized as Jordan Scott connected with the talented Co-Eric Riley for a 51-yard touchdown pass play, giving the home team a 19-0 lead after the Tigers stuffed the 2-point conversion attempt.

The Tigers shut out the Rebels scoring machine for the remainder of the first half, more than 16 minutes, but the Tigers offense wasn't successful getting into the end zone. Tyler Brush connected with Lewis for a 25 yard pass play to the Rebels' 22 yardline. Antonio Hawkins picked up two yards on first down and Brush kept it for 6 yards to the 14 yardline on second down, but that was as close as the Tigers would get in the first half as Hawkins was stopped at the line of scrimmage on third down, and Brush passed incomplete as the Tigers went for it on fourth down.

The Rebels started the second half the same way they started the first half, converting their first possession - an 8-play drive - into a score. The Rebels led 26-0.

Lewis returned the ensuing kickoff with another good kickoff return, a 30-yard return to the Tigers 35. Brush found Brad Ladner for a 16-yard pass completion and the Tigers were in Rebels' territory at the 49. Hawkins was on the receiving end of two Brush passes on second and third down for gains of 4 and 5 yards, but Brush failed to pick up the first down on a quarter-back keeper on fourth down.

The Rebels scored two more times, taking a 40-0 lead with just over five minutes to play in the game. Following that score the Tigers put together their most impressive drive of the night as Brush connected with Destin Thomas for a 30-yard touchdown strike. Brush then found Ladner just over the goal line for the successful 2-point conversion.

Hawks fall to Hattiesburg 35-14 to end season

BY DWAYNE BREMER
Contributing Writer

The Hancock Hawks completed the 2004 football season with a 35-14 loss to the playoff-bound Hattiesburg Tigers. The Hawks (1-10), played well in the first half, and fought hard throughout the contest. The Hawks racked up 398 yards of total offense, but mistakes in the red zone and the running of Tiger back Jonathan Kirksey doomed the Hawks. Kirksey ran for 396 yards on 27 carries and scored all five Tiger touchdowns.

"I hate to see the season end for these kids. We have come a long way since the start of the season, and I'm really proud of the hard work and effort that the team has put out," said Hawks head Coach Walt Esslinger.

The Hawks took the opening kickoff and put together a nice drive to start the game. Ronnie Thomas started things off with a four-yard run, and a penalty gave the Hawks a first down.

Braxton Necaise then connected with Andrew Smith on a 21-yard pass play giving the Hawks another first down.

Mark Fairley then ran for six and ten-yard runs, and Chase Mciver gave the Hawks another first down with a seven-yard end around. John Lacoste pounded out nine yards to the Tiger one-yard line, and Fairley scored on the next play. Justin Ratcliff added the point after and the Hawks had the lead 7-0 with 7:01 to play in the first.

The Tigers quickly responded with a seven-play drive that netted 70 yards.

Kirksey scored his first touchdown from eight yards out, and after Chris Hunt added the point after, the Tigers had evened the score 7-7.

The Hawks took the kickoff and Ryan Baker returned it back 21-yards to the 28. Thomas took a pitch 13 yards and a facemask call gave the Hawks another five yards. After a five-yard run by Fairley, Andrew Smith took off on a 40-yard rumble. Smith's run brought the ball down to the ten-yard line. Two plays later Fairley scored from six yards out. Ratcliff's extra point gave the Hawks a 14-7 lead with 1:56 to play in the first.

The Tigers turned back to their workhorse Kirksey on their next drive. Kirksey had runs of 11, 44, 3, and 5 before scoring a 19-yard touchdown. The point after tied the score at 14-14.

Kirksey struck again on the Tigers next drive, as he scooted in on a 24-yard run. With 8:16 to play in the half, the Tigers led 21-14.

The Hawks took over at the ten after the kickoff, and continued to move the ball. Smith broke free for a 17-yard gain, and Fairley picked up a first down with a 14-yard run. Smith and Fairley combined for another first down, and a penalty on the Tigers gave the Hawks a first down at the 12. Two plays later the Hawks were faced with a third and five from the seven. Necaise ran around the end for what appeared to be a first down, but a holding penalty set the Hawks back to the 20. Necaise was sacked on the next play, and the Hawks were forced to give up the ball.

The Tigers made a rush for another score before the half as they took the ball down to the Hawks 21. With :13 seconds left, Tiger quarterback Cedrick Jones scrambled for five yards to the 16, but Alex Toups made the tackle in bounds and the clock ran out on the Tigers. The half ended 21-14.

The Tigers took the second half kickoff and started at the 20. After two short runs, the Tigers faced a third and six. Kirksey got the call, and he broke free for a 71-yard touchdown run. The extra point was good and the Tigers led 28-14.

The Hawks got the ball back at the 24 after the kickoff. After a short loss, Necaise hooked up with Justin Kopf for a 21-yard pickup and a first down. Fairley ran for six yards and Smith pounded out a 10-yard run for a first down to the 43. The Hawks picked up another first down when Necaise ran for seven yards on a fourth and one. Four plays later the Hawks had a first and goal at the Tigers seven. The Hawks could not punch it in, however, as a bad snap was recovered by Jermaine Jackson of the Tigers at the 2.

The Tigers moved the ball downfield and after seven plays they were faced with a third and seven at the own 45. Jones ran a perfect option play in which he pitched to Kirksey, and Kirksey took it the rest of the way for a 55-yard touchdown. The point after made the score 35-14 with 11:04 left in the game.

The teams would trade possessions, and with just over two minutes left the Hawks took over for the last time at their own eight.

Necaise connected with Mciver for a 15-yard pass, and then Necaise found Kopf again this time for a big play of 51-yards. Necaise looked for Kopf again, and a pass interference call gave the Hawks a first down at the 27. Necaise would scramble twice for gains of seven and nine, and on the last play of the game, Necaise was intercepted in the end zone.

Necaise completed four of 14 passes for 108 yards and he ran for 18 more yards. Fairley had 138 yards on 27 carries and Smith chipped in with 108 yards.

"I felt like we were in the game, we just had trouble with the speed, and the mistakes hurt," Esslinger said.

The Hawks said goodbye to thirteen seniors Friday night. Justin Ratcliff was the kicker for two years. Justin Kopf led the team in receiving yards this year. Andrew Warihay played both offense and defense in his three years. Alex Toups had a solid year on defense recording three sacks. John Lacoste was the Hawks best player on defense. The three-year starter collected over 70 tackles. Paul Verdin was an effective punter as well as playing offense. Scott Nesom played four years and was the anchor of the offensive line for the Hawks. Travis Hall, Chance Seals, and Kalan Cuevas all played well on the offensive line, which was the Hawks best unit throughout the year. E.J. Jarvis had a good senior season on the defensive line. Justin Williams played on offense and special teams, and recorded a touchdown this year. Anthony Lind started at tight end and was an important lineman, especially on the Hawks favorite play the power pitch.

"Our seniors were a great group. Their leadership was important in keeping the team together, and they really made the school proud," Esslinger said.

The Hawks will look at the 2004 season as a rebuilding year, but one that cannot be forgotten in terms of the character of the team. With all of the things that kids can be distracted with, not one kids quit the 2004 team.

The team remained in good spirits and their love for the game showed even all season.

"This is one of my favorite teams, I'm not just saying that because I like the kids, but the heart and effort was there all season. We have a lot to look forward too in the coming seasons," Esslinger said.

The Hawks outlook on the future is going to be a bright one. One advantage to a rebuilding year is that the Hawks have found a wealth of new talent.

The young Hawks have gained experience and confidence, and in nine months they will be back.

"We're going to work out hard, and try to become more physical. I think the kids picked up the offensive and we are going to work on all areas of the game," Esslinger said.

W.W.II WAC Vets car show

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

An organization not too many folks may not know about is the Women's Army Corps Veterans, which is comprised of Women Veterans of World W.W.II.

Lee Hote, of Waveland is a charter member of the Women's Army Corps Veterans Chapter 25, and reports her group will have their 2nd Annual Car Show benefit on Saturday, November 13, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the American Legion Post 77, Waveland.

Proceeds from the Car Show benefits the Veterans Hospital in New Orleans and Biloxi.

Mrs. Hote reports she has been a member of the organization since the end of W.W.II, and the local area charter started in 1953.

"We would like to welcome all Women Veterans to come out for the Car Show, and bring along any memorabilia they may have to display along with our displays of our experiences from our tours of duty in W.W.II," Mrs. Hote said.

The late Edith Nourse Rogers, a Congresswoman from Massachusetts introduced a Bill in Congress on May 14, 1942 to establish a Women's Auxiliary Corps. With Auxiliary status, enlisted women received medical care, but rank and pay were not equal with men in the Army.

The first commander of the Army Corps, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby took the rank of Colonel. The first WAC training center was opened July 20, 1942, at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. As the need for more women became apparent, four more training centers were opened.

Mrs. Hote reports that many women from the New Orleans/Mississippi area enlisted and served in Germany, Africa, France, New Guinea, Philippines, other countries and states during W.W.II.

Mrs. Hote was assigned to General Patton's Army as a Staff Sgt. in Transportation Land, Sea and Air.

She said, "When Gen. Patton lie dying in the hospital, Mrs. Patton came to Heidelberg to care for her husband."

"My roommate Paulette Johnston was assigned as Mrs. Patton's personal secretary," Johnson thought, "Gee, I'll finally get to ride in a staff car only to have Mrs. Patton walk her all over Germany."

Mrs. Hote said Chapter 25 is not only seeking women who served during W.W.II in the Army, but, "We invite all women who served our country in all conflicts to come out and share their stories of service and view our displays of medals, photos, uniforms and wonderful memories of how we proudly served our country and supported our combat troops."

For further information, Lee Hote can be reached at 467-7999.

Like all the communities lost to Hancock County when the federal government cleared out more than a third of the county to build Stennis Space Center and Buffer Zone, life in Bayou LaCrosse was centered around family and church. When, in the early 1960's, the rumors began to circulate about a new rocket testing facility that would locate along the Pearl River, people there, like people in most of the small towns that dotted the area, pretty much ignored the news, never dreaming that it would change their lives forever. Many, busy with everyday life, never even heard about the proposal until they got word that they would have to leave their homes and land.

Myrna Rae Ladner Bourgeois and her husband Bill, just starting out in their 45 year marriage, were busy building a home in Bayou LaCrosse and starting a family, their first child, Tammy, about a year old. (Daughter Penny was born after the family moved.) Myrna and Bill expected to spend their life in the community they had known all their lives, near family and friends.

The Bourgeois' stopped by what was then the J.W. Maskew station and store, owned by J.W. and Alice, to get the news of the day and pick up a few things they needed. What they got instead was a shock. The news of the day was that NASA had announced the acquisition by imminent domain of more than 130,000 acres in Hancock County.

"We found out when we stopped in there and saw it in the paper," said Miss Myrna. "There it was in the paper that they were going to be taking our land. People started right away to raise the price of the land where we would have to move."

Space Test Site Due Here, U.S. Selects Huge Tract, said the headlines on October 26, 1961. By the time most people in the county had gotten word on the plans for the test site, including many county officials, a suit claiming 36 percent of the county by imminent domain had already been filed in District Court.

A few days later Senator John C. Stennis came down to hold a meeting in Logtown to explain the situation. Disbelief turned into reality.

"It was a family community," said Miss Myrna. "And when NASA came they disrupted that ... I will never forgive them though they have brought some good things too."

The community Miss Myrna remembers growing up in was one of simplicity. There were no telephones, running water, or electric lights until just before the move in the 1960's. The daughter of August and Myrtle Singleman Ladner, she is one of seven children, who were taught that education, community service, and church were the central part of life.

Life for the family revolved largely around

Holy Cross Church. Miss Myrna's brothers and cousins, of which there were many, served as altar boys. Miss Myrna, like most of the girls in the community, sang in the church choir at the monthly mass held by kerosene light, under the direction of Agnes Bourgeois Zengarling. The choir balcony was lit with a candle, she said.

Each Saturday afternoon Miss Myrtle would starch and iron clothes for her children for church, dresses for the girls and shirts for the boys. Before and after church, people would visit and share the talk of the day.

"We knew how to visit and did so," said Miss Myrna. "We always gathered before and after church ... one of the things I miss most is the gathering ... people don't do that anymore. And I miss the family atmosphere."

Later we had a weekly mass and one, in the afternoon, with special early masses for Easter and Christmas Eve. On All Saints Day the priest would come in the afternoon and bless all the graves and light a candle by each one. Later in the evening our parents would bring us back to the graveyard and it was the prettiest scene with all the candles burning."

Though most weddings took place at Our Lady of the Gulf, First Communion, and Baptisms were held at Holy Cross. The whole com-

Waveland looks to enter Guinness Book

The City of Waveland and the Coleman Avenue Coalition are sponsoring a "world class" event. They will be attempting to break the Guinness Book of World Records for the Largest Carol Service at the Festival of Lights Celebration on Saturday, December 11, 2004.

So that the nature of the Festival is maintained the students of Waveland Elementary and St. Clare School are still invited to participate and lead this monumental musical event.

The current record is held in New York City where 519 carolers sang for over 16 minutes.

According to Guinness Records the event was held on the steps of Manhattan's General Post Office, and organized by Radio City Entertainment's 'A Christmas Carol: The Musical' and the 34th Street Holiday Partnership. The singers, led by some of the cast of the Broadway musical, broke their own record - set on the same spot last Christmas - by two people.

The goal is to have more than 600 people sing for at least 20 minutes led by the Elementary School Carolers on the steps of Waveland City Hall. According to Guinness this has become a popular event this year, so they will need as many participants as possible.

The groups invite your participation and help in making this "World Record" a reality. All local schools, churches and civic groups are encouraged to join in. Each participating group will need a designated "captain" to coordinate, music, attendees, etc. When applying, please indicate who your captain will be.

If you plan to participate, contact Kathy Pinn at That Cute Little Shoppe (467-3922) or Tammy Fayard at Waveland City Hall (467-4134).

St. Stanislaus College seniors Goggins and Hansell named National Merit Semifinalists

St. Stanislaus seniors Robert Goggins and Heath Hansell have been selected as semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program, according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, Principal.

Robert is the son of Ms. Susan Goggins of Bay St. Louis. He is the Student Council President, YMCA Youth Governor for Mississippi, and Editor in Chief of The Rock-a-Chaw newspaper. He is a member of National Honor Society, Quiz Bowl Team, Music Ministry, Student Ministry, and Key Club.

Heath is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hansell of Waveland. He is a member of the National Honor Society, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Math Counts, and the varsity soccer team.

Robert and Heath are two of 16,000 Semifinalists in the 50th annual National Merit Scholarship Program who have the opportunity to compete for over 8,200 Merit Scholarship awards, worth over $33.9 million dollars. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which was founded in 1955 and conducts the academic competition, is a not-for-profit organization. Nearly 500 business organizations and institutions of high education in conjunction with NMSC underwrite scholarships that are awarded through NMSC in its efforts to honor scholastically able young men and women, to broaden their educational opportunities, and to encourage academic excellence at all levels.

Robert Goggins

More than 1.3 million juniors in over 21,000 U.S. high schools entered the 2005 National Merit Program by taking the 2003 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Test (PSAT/NMSQT), which served as an initial screen of program entrants. Semifinalists are the highest scoring entrants in each state and represent less than one percent of the state's seniors.

St. Stanislaus College is a Catholic residency and day school for young men in grades 6-12. The school fosters character formation and integrates faith development within a curriculum which is primarily college preparatory.

Democracy at work

St. Clare School sponsored a mock election debate and simulated the voting process. Beginning the week prior to November second the campaign members of both the Democratic Party and the Republican Party ran campaign ads, selected slogans and sported buttons for their candidates. The students listened as President Bush (Bennett Rimmer and Senator Kerry (Joshua Williams) posed as the real thing. They outlined their policies and their beliefs, even answering questions from the ever-present media! From there it was off to the polls. Polling booths were set up in the hallway and all registered voters were given a ballot to cast their vote on. The results were then tabulated by the fourth grade, as they are students that study Mississippi History. St. Clare's School results were in agreement with the nation, even a day earlier! President Bush will lead us for the next four years. The election process works and we all benefited from the experience. St. Clare School is a Catholic Elementary School starting with Pre-K three through Sixth Grade. St. Clare is located on the beach in Waveland.

Lost -- Bayou LaCroix

munity joined in to clean the church for special events. Church fairs were held on a regular basis.

Kids were carried in buses first to school in Lakeshore, then to Kiln for high school.

"We behaved in school because we knew if we didn't we would be in trouble when we got home," she said.

The buses were cold in the winter and the children would wrap bags around their feet to keep warm. The bus dropped the children off at the main road and they walked the rest of the way home down the dirt road and across the wooden bridge. The bridge would flood during a heavy rain and August would drive them across in a logging truck.

"You always felt like someone was following you and my brothers would whistle and try to scare us," she said of the walk home. "And there were spook tales of a woman who would appear to escort you across the bridge."

Growing up Miss Myrna especially remembers her parents love and concern for all the children in the community.

"There were seven of us, but at any given time there would be many more children at the house ... I might go to sleep and have three other girls sleeping there too, but it was fine."

The family worked together with Miss Myrtle helping her husband August in the fields. Miss Myrna would help watch after the children, and later, when her grandmother Mamie taught her to sew on a treadle sewing machine, she helped with making the clothes too. Her brother Jeep, she said, called her "little mama." She could make a dress without using a pattern and have it finished before leaving for school. Many dresses were made from feed sacks. The family made all their clothes and sheets.

All the children were expected to lend a hand with the chores, like getting on you hands and knees to scrub a floor, or feeding the goats, or other livestock. Sleeping late was prohibited even on the weekends with so much to be done. The family raised much of their own food including their own eggs, and meat from their cattle, pigs and goats. The cattle had free range all the way to what is now Hancock High School.

When the family left Bayou LaCroix August and Myrtle went to Ansley, where Myrtle's family had some land and opened Ladner's Friendly Inn. Miss Myrna became one of six or more Bayou LaCroix residents who went on to public service. She served as the first and only woman school superintendent in Hancock County district, elected in 1992 and serving four years. She helped to start a pre-kindergarten, multi-cultural, and alternative education program in county schools and became known for her outspoken personality. She has spent many more years as an educator and principal in the Hancock County School system. She is currently working on her Ph.D. in education, leadership and administration and plans to return to work.

Just like in many other communities lost to the test site, she and other former residents still return to take care of the cemetery, now the only center for activities. Each year they hold an all day event there and serve lunch and share memories of a time gone forever.

Abiding in God's Love

As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you; abide in my love. If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in His love. These things I have spoken to you, that your joy may be full (John 15:9-11). These encouraging verses from the Holy Bible should be beneficial in helping us build a deeper relationship with God; and allow us to stay in His love. At times, the daily happenings of our busy world may cause us to forget about God's love, and this may cause us to separate ourselves from Him. Having a good prayer life and asking God for His help in everything we do will strengthen our relationship with Him. We should try to recognize all of the daily blessings that come our way, and also accept any disappointments without grumbling or complaining. Problems, or even disasters, should be a means to help us grow in God's love, we abide in Him and our joy may be full.

If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever you will, and it shall be done for you.
R.S.V. John 15:7

We morph from slaves to saints

He apologized! The Bishop apologized! Tears misted the eyes and ran down the cheeks of a considerable number of those gathered for the blessing and dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Slave. Throats tightened and fingers worked expressively as the Bishop made his moving apology.

Mumbling could be heard off and on throughout the sizable crowd which had gathered in the driveway on the northeast side of the church. They withheld their remarks until the Bishop had finished his driving homily on the morally bankrupt misadventure of slavery.

Reflections on Life
by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

"The Bishop apologized! He apologized for himself and for all white people for the wrongs done to the slaves and their descendants in this country!"

Archbishop Alfred Hughes said many things of note during his brief but substantive homily at the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Slave at St. Augustine Catholic Church. He spoke of the rampant racism among Catholics and other Christians, and of the many slaves who were buried secretly because they had been murdered.

He also mentioned the many slaves who were buried hurriedly because they were among overwhelming numbers who had fallen victim to yellow fever or other plagues. Because of sheer urgency, there was no time to record names or locations in many cases.

Hence, the burial of many slaves became a typical Unknown Slave Anonymous event.

It was all too obvious that Archbishop Hughes relished this opportunity to vent his heavy feelings, to put things into perspective, and to set the record of history straight.

Thus, speaking with evident emotion and focused purpose, he was all into the whole riveting drama of blessing and dedicating the Tomb of the Unknown Slave.

But, of all the piercing remarks which the Archbishop made, the apology was the one which made an indelible impression on all present, especially the blacks. There was heavy and immediate throughout the spell-bound crowd. Teary-eyed, many of them began to stammer and mumble about the strange things they had seen and heard.

"Here I am, a white bishop, apologizing for myself and for all white people for the dreadful wrongs inflicted on the slaves and their descendants in this country!"

Deacon Ronald Guidry, the Archbishop's liturgist and a man well versed in the main aspects of slave history, had scripted an historical, inspiring and ringing liturgy program, a copy of which all those present received. Thus, all could and did participate in prayer led by the Archbishop and song led by vocalist/musician Leon Vaughn.

I must say, if Sunday congregations had the same enthusiasm as that motley gathering of souls from various ethnic groups, professions and conditions, all would be well with Sunday and other services. One might conclude that a typical Sunday service lacks the sense of history, poignancy and urgency experienced at the Tomb of the Unknown Slave.

Just before the ceremony of blessing and dedication, two middle-aged ladies had walked up to the 1500-pound cross of chains. Suddenly gripped with uncontrollable emotions, they stared at the outsize cross and began to retreat to the rear of the crowd.

"We can't stay here! We can't stand it! We have to get back away from this cross!"

Theirs was not a solitary reaction to the cross constructed of an outsize marine chain which had been used to hold a buoy in the Mississippi River. After a sandblasting, the chain was divided in order to form a cross, then the links were double-welded together.

Resting on its foot and cross-beam, the ponderous cross sits firmly on a few yards of reinforced concrete used both as an underground foundation and a ground-level stabilizer.

Both its intimidating size and its starkness grab the attention of all who approach it.

Inescapably, one is drawn by the rugged cross to the image of a fallen Jesus bearing his cross on the Via Dolorosa. Inseparably, one's attention is pulled simultaneously to the slaves falling frequently under the agonizing weight of their bitter, hopeless, lifelong cross. So, Jesus, who became a slave to save us, is the one hope of all both slave and free.

It is abundantly clear why the Tomb of the Unknown Slave scene makes such an impact on whomever looks upon it. Simple in concept, yet seminal and visceral in its implications, the hulking rugged cross and the handful of smaller crosses in the ground resonate in every human being, because all of us stagger under our crosses.

Relating our personal crosses to those of the hapless slaves and to the transcendent cross of Jesus Christ is an intimate experience which each one processes when faced bluntly with the divine Slave of Philippians 2 and the human wretches of our making.

Dressed in a fancy T-shirt, Mayor C. Ray Nagin made the scene together with Ahmad Jabbari, his right hand man. As soon as all the praying, dedicating and singing were done, the Mayor read a simple but very impressive proclamation from the City of New Orleans:

"Be it known that C. Ray Nagin, Mayor of the City of New Orleans, has this day proclaimed as the City of New Orleans, St. Augustine Church and the Faith Community of the Catholic Ministry join in recognition of the Tomb of the Unknown Slave."

Coroner Dr. Frank Minyard was on hand with his trusty trumpet.

Having huddled with me about the appropriate time to blow his horn, he awaited his cue at the end of the dedication, then cheered us with a soulful rendition of "Precious Lord."

A cross section of city dwellers and tourists bore living witness by their presence to the exorcism of the socially, politically and religiously fatal beliefs and practices of so-called God-fearing believers. Equally, they bore witness to the steadfast hope that our shameful past will be buried forever, and all our hurts and wounds will be healed by our Savior.

Life after Death

There are numerous reports of people having life after death experiences. Many have seen their loved ones and friends in a very picturesque setting.

This writer has a difficult time attempting to describe the activity in the kingdom of God; I haven't been there yet.

Those who have had this supernatural experience have reported such things as the noticeable obedience of the angels: The joy on the faces of the redeemed. Breath taking scenery. Ever changing transparent flowers. A river crystal clear. The tree of life.

Multitudes dress in white robes singing praises unto the Lord as they head for that wonderful new Jerusalem.

This is a vision the apostle John had as he saw this city coming down from heaven. God showed this to John 2,000 years ago.

John's vision was a future event. Nevertheless, their are people having life after death experiences in this present life. Heaven is very real to them.

Occasionally to the horror of some they got a terrify look into hell. They don't doubt if there is a hell anymore.

Reader, you can read about this new Jerusalem in Rev. 21. If you are a redeemed person you are going there someday. What a wonderful future you have.

When these events start taking place, God will open the Lambs Book of Life. The saved person's name will be there.

If you do not have the Lord Jesus as your personal Savior and be born again, He will not find your name in His book; the Book of Eternal Life.

Your dimes conquered polio.
Give us a hand with premature birth.

Fifty years ago, Americans helped the March of Dimes fund polio research. Today a new epidemic threatens our babies—premature birth. Each year more than 460,000 are born premature. It's the leading cause of newborn death and many disabilities. Please go online to help the March of Dimes raise research funds. Together we can find the answers that will save premature babies.

Her television career has been equally impressive with brilliant dramatic performances and Emmy nomination for "Who Will Love My Children," "Queen," "The Two Mrs. Grenvilles" and "A Streetcar Named Desire." Other television films in which she has earned critical acclaim for her roles include: "Our Sons," "Nobody's Children," "Following Her Heart," "Scarlett" and "Seduced by Madness."

Ann-Margret recorded the main title song for the DreamWorks Flintstones movie, "Viva Rock Vegas," and has a new RCA compilation CD "The Very Best of Ann-Margret." Her new CD "Ann-Margret's Christmas Carol Collection" will be released this fall.

She has also starred in many television specials including "The Ann-Margret Show," "From Hollywood With Love," "Dames At Sea," "When You're Smiling,"

"Ann-Margret Olsson," "Rhinestone Cowgirl," "Rockette: A Tribute to Radio City Music Hall" and "Cinderella at the Palace."

Ann-Margret has performed at the White House, received presidential citations for entertaining the U.S. armed forces overseas and was selected by the USO World Board of Governors as their 2003 honoree. She was also named the Swedish American of the Year and gave a royal command performance for the King and Queen of Sweden.

As further proof of her popularity, her autobiography, "My Story" reached the New York Times Best Seller List a week after publication.

Ann-Margret finished an 18-month tour of the multi-million dollar production of "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," and recorded the new cast album. She currently tours with her new 2003 production show "Here! Now!"

Ann-Margret is the national chairperson for the Myasthenia Gravis Division of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and a national spokesperson for "What 60 Looks Like Now" - a campaign to educate women about osteoporosis. She lives with her husband, Roger Smith, in Beverly Hills, California.

Beatlemania Revisited coming Nov. 16 to Grand Casino Biloxi

"It was 40 years ago today" - 2004 marks the 40th anniversary of the arrival of the Beatles in America. In honor of this milestone, Grand Casino Biloxi is bringing the memories back in Beatlemania Revisited, November 16 - 21 at the Biloxi Grand Theatre.

Beatlemania Revisited is a retrospective look at the music and career of the Beatles. From "A Hard Day's Night" to "Hey Jude," the show recreates, in exacting detail, the look and sound of the Beatles as they take the audience on a musical and visual journey through the exciting and turbulent sixties. Utilizing three video screens and five video/camera projections, the audience is transported back to the Ed Sullivan Show, Carnaby Street, Haight Ashbury and Abby Road. The all live Beatles impersonation band will perform over two dozen Beatles songs during the show. Five different costume changes and exact replicas of Beatles instruments, costumes and period staging add to the experience of revisiting the phenomenon known as "Beatlemania".

The show was created by the Mahoney Brothers, who are recognized by critics and fans as the world's greatest live musical impersonation act. The Mahoney Brothers have previously performed with the Broadway production of Beatlemania, Legends in Concert, Dick Clark's Golden Age of Television, Wolfman Jack's Rock and Roll Review and Jukebox Heroes Live.

'Fear Factor' circles Lady Liberty for 100th episode

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

For its centennial episode, airing Monday, Nov. 8, NBC's veteran reality series "Fear Factor" could only think of one place to go.

"We went to New York City," executive producer Matt Kunitz says. "It's such a phenomenal city that has such a great energy. It felt like 'Fear Factor' really needed to go there. It's just so expensive that we really couldn't afford to do it until our 100th episode."

"We had to bring all our helicopters from California to New York. It cost us $80,000 just to fly those helicopters across the country."

In its fifth season, "Fear Factor" has proven one of the more durable reality-competition shows. With new contestants and stunts in almost every episode, it's also the only one being successfully syndicated. But still, the first two years the Emmy Award was handed out for this genre, it went to CBS' "The Amazing Race."

"With half the viewers," Kunitz says, "it would be a great honor to win an Emmy, but ultimately we're not doing the show to please the critics and win Emmys, we're doing the show to entertain the audience. As long as we keep doing that and pleasing our viewers, then we're doing our job."

"Boy, is that a good, politically correct answer."

In the interests of keeping the audience happy, Kunitz has something special for the "Big Apple" episode. One stunt is on the Roosevelt Island Tramway; another forces contestants to drink rat soup in a rain-washed Times Square. And as for the third one...

"You can't be in New York without doing a stunt at the Statue of Liberty," Kunitz says. "This is where our helicopters come into effect."

While circling Lady Liberty, contestants must traverse a glass climbing wall suspended from two helicopters. "The final outcome is so satisfying that it's an emotional ending," Kunitz says. "You can't ask for anything better than that."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, Nov. 7 (NBC, 3:30 p.m. ET): With just two weeks to go before a Nextel Cup champion is crowned, the racing during today's Checker Auto Parts 500 should be as hot as the sun baking Phoenix International Raceway's one-mile oval. Recent results have put the title-contending spotlight on Kurt Busch, who's combined luck with skill; Dale Earnhardt Jr., the Checker Auto Parts defending champ; and Jeff Gordon, who has finished seventh or better four straight years at Phoenix.

"NFL Football" Monday, Nov. 8 (ABC, 9 p.m. ET): The Minnesota Vikings and Indianapolis Colts like their punters so much, they may give them the night off. The league's top two scoring offenses (points per game) through five contests get the controlled climate of the RCA Dome in Indianapolis in which to fire away, with the Vikes' Daunte Culpepper and the Colts' Peyton Manning doing the firing. Culpepper has already set a record this season by tossing five TD passes in three separate games.

"NBA Basketball" Friday, Nov. 12 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): Who's back in the West to harass Tim Duncan and the San Antonio Spurs, if only for one early-season encounter? Why, it's none other than Shaquille O'Neal, with whom the Spurs became all too familiar during his dominating days as the Lakers' center. Shaq believes those days aren't over - he's guaranteed it, actually - as he readies himself to head the reclamation of the Miami Heat. His sidekick, Dwyane Wade, provides O'Neal with room to roam inside.

Bob Schieffer

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

For 50 years, politicians have faced the music on "Face the Nation."

The venerable Sunday-morning CBS news program - which has queried figures from Sen. Joseph McCarthy to members of the current Bush administration - marks its first half-century with the Sunday, Nov. 7, edition. Veteran TV journalist Bob Schieffer has presided as moderator since 1991, and he maintains it's his dream job.

"If you're a journalist, you like to ask newsmakers questions," he reasons, "and where else do they come to you? This has become more than just one of the longest-running broadcasts on television; it really has become a window on history. It reflects the growth of television news and what it's become." Also the author of a new "Face the Nation" book, Schieffer points to the show's 1957 interview of Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev as a watershed.

Although he was used to doing "Face the Nation" by 2001, all the rules changed for the much-honored Schieffer the Sunday after the 9/11 terrorist attacks. He wanted more airtime, and he got it, expanding the show from its usual half-hour to two hours, with guests including Secretary of Defense Colin Powell and New York Sens. Hillary Rodham Clinton and Charles Schumer.

"Putting together that broadcast was an experience I'll never forget," Schieffer says. "We had been on the air for some 90-odd hours nonstop, nobody in the Washington bureau had gotten any sleep, and it was the hardest story any of us had tried to cover. In the midst of a tragedy like that, we came away feeling that we'd done a good job, that we'd helped people to understand what had happened."

Born: Feb. 25, 1937, in Austin, Texas.

Current residence: Washington, D.C.

Marital status: He and his wife have two daughters and twin granddaughters.

Getting started: Schieffer began his career as the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, then moved into TV at WBAP in Dallas/Fort Worth. He joined CBS News in 1969.

Life and work at CBS: Originally hired as a general-assignment reporter, Schieffer quickly became the network's Pentagon correspondent. Since 1982, he has been CBS News' chief Washington correspondent, and also the congressional correspondent since 1989. The anchor of the Saturday "CBS Evening News" from 1978 to 1998, he moderated last month's third (and last) presidential debate.

The Ewings of 'Dallas' hold a family reunion

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

For 13 seasons, from the late 1970s through the early '90s, the most famous Texas 10-gallon hat in the world rested on the head of J.R. Ewing, the chief scoundrel of a fictional, oil-rich clan cohabiting in a sprawling ranch house. "Dallas" came on the air during a period of deep economic recession, which star Larry Hagman, who played J.R., thinks may have contributed to its success.

"People couldn't afford to go out and spend money on a baby sitter and dinner and a movie," Hagman says. "That was $50, and in those days, that was a lot of money for people. They had to stay in. We saved people billions of dollars."

On Sunday, Nov. 7, CBS premieres "Dallas Reunion: Return to Southfork," a two-hour special with cast members Hagman, Linda Gray, Patrick Duffy, Victoria Principal, Charlene Tilton, Ken Kercheval, Steve Kanaly and Mary Crosby. They share reminiscences and Hagman's home movies on the grounds of the real Southfork Ranch just outside Dallas.

"You oughta see it now," Hagman says.

"It's so tacky," Gray says. The 73-year-old Hagman is full of humor and fond memories of his J.R. days; in fact, a selection of dove-gray cowboy hats rests just inside the door of his Santa Monica condo. Settling down on his sofa with Gray, who played J.R.'s wife, Sue Ellen, it's apparent that while the two battled on screen, the off-screen relationship has endured.

"I see this one all the time," Gray says, patting Hagman on the shoulder. "When a comment is made about the endurance of 'Dallas,' Hagman says, 'Nothing's ever dead; everything comes back.' I just found this shirt. It's 30 years old."

"It looks 30 years old," Gray says.

"Oh, shut up," Hagman retorts. "It's beautiful. I love it."

"See," Gray says, "this is starting already. This is our relationship. This is it. Do you think they had scripts?"

"We made it up," Hagman says. Hagman and Gray share Texas-sized anecdotes over espresso, with a sweeping view of the Pacific as a backdrop. Gray recalls being at a business dinner at a posh Texas hotel and sharing the restroom mirror with another woman, whose tiny, beaded bag contained nothing but a lipstick and a Derma-roller.

"I said, 'stupidly, is that a gun?' And she said, 'Yes, this is Texas, darling.'"

At the same hotel, Hagman had a very different encounter with an elderly woman who took offense at the way J.R. treated Sue Ellen and decided to clout the "rascal" in the head with her bag.

"She hit me, boom," Hagman recalls, "and knocked me off my chair. She said, 'Oh, I'm so sorry. Oh, my husband died and left me this pearl-handled .38, and I left it in my bag.' She hit me with a 4-pound revolver, and I saw stars. I really did."

This lady's excessive enthusiasm is indicative of the popularity of "Dallas" during its long run, which perhaps hit its high-water mark with the fervor over the third-season cliffhanger -- the infamous "Who Shot J.R.?" episode.

"Who shot J.R.?" Hagman says. "That lady [with the gun in her purse] almost did."

But, he adds, that shooting helped to detract from an earlier shooting in Dallas. "They didn't like us at first," he says. "Why would you like a bunch of Hollywood people coming in and talking about your town? But we took the onus of the assassination capital of the world away. We really turned it around to a positive."

Duffy, who played saintly younger brother Bobby Ewing, had his own TV-altering moment. He left before the 1985-86 season. But when the show took a bizarre turn in his absence, Duffy returned for the season finale, in which the previous year was revealed as nothing but the dream of his wife, Pam (Principal).

Linda Gray and Larry Hagman, who played battling spouses Sue Ellen and J.R. Ewing in the CBS prime-time serial "Dallas," reunite for "Dallas Reunion: Return to Southfork" Sunday on CBS.

"That was the saving grace," Duffy says, "because we took the dream, erased that dismal year and went back to the story. I get a lot of, 'Don't you think it's a little trashy, a little cheap?' I say, 'No, I think it's the most brilliant cut in the world.'"

"I just thought it was wonderful. It brought me back, and there's nothing that would have made me happier."

For Principal, the "Dallas" reunion marks the first time since 1987 -- except for a cast photo shoot for Vanity Fair in the '90s -- that she has returned to Southfork and been with her castmates. The special's executive producer, Henry Winkler, called, and Principal, now a successful businesswoman with her own skin-care line, couldn't say no.

'JAG' co-star chose to leave the series

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q What happened to John M. Jackson's character, Admiral Chegwidden, on "JAG" this season? -D. & P., St. Petersburg, Fla.

A Like his television alter ego, Jackson, 54, decided to "retire" from his long-running role on the series, and his departure was marked by quite a going-away party thrown by his colleagues. Next up, Jackson has a featured role in the 2005 comedy-drama movie "West of Brooklyn."

Q I'm a huge fan of "The Amazing Race," and I thought that season on Oct. 2. What happened? -Samantha, Lisbon, Ohio.

A Don't panic. CBS is thrilled with the fact that audiences finally have caught up with this electrifying series, which not only went through the ratings roof last summer, but also has won back-to-back Emmy Awards over such high-profile competition as "Survivor" and "The Apprentice." CBS just decided that round six of the series might feel just a little more "amazing" with a little breathing room between it and the September finale of "Amazing Race 5." The premiere date for "Race 6" is Nov. 16.

Q I think "Laura" is one of the best movies ever made. Who starred in the original, and who played in the TV remake? -Sue DeJoy, Otego, N.Y.

A Based on a novel by Vera Caspary, the atmospheric 1944 feature film starred a radiant Gene Tierney as Laura Hunt, the title character; Dana Andrews as police investigator Mark McPherson; and Clifton Webb as Laura's mentor, Waldo Lydecker. The ravishing cinematography won an Academy Award, while another Oscar nomination went to director Otto Preminger.

In 1968, an ill-advised television remake starred aspiring actress Lee Radziwill (acting under the name Lee Boudvier) as Laura, Robert Stack as McPherson and George Sanders as Lydecker. Reviews, especially for Radziwill, were scathing. Interestingly, Stack and Sanders had played their same roles years earlier in an hourlong 1955 TV adaptation of "Laura" with Dana Wynter in the title role. Fox Movie Channel has aired that rarely seen version as part of its "Hour of Stars" series.

Eakes tackles the golden oldies

Bobbie Eakes

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Bobbie Eakes has been in a New York state of mind since moving to the Big Apple in December 2003, after landing the role of Krystal in "All My Children."

Although it has been quite a change for the actress who played Macy Alexander in "The Bold and the Beautiful" for more than a dozen years, one thing that hasn't changed is her love for making music. Toward that end, she is in the studio recording and hopes to have an album out this month.

"It is great old songs from the '50s, the '60s and the '70s, with a couple of originals," she says. "All the songs I'm doing were previously done by male artists. Now they have a female perspective. We changed up a lot of these songs, and they are so different than the originals. Some of them we pared down, some we slowed down, and some we perked up. We even made a swing tune out of an Elvis song."

Eakes is hoping to have the album ready to sell at this year's Super Soap Weekend. But if not, it will be available shortly afterward at Boscov's, a chain of stores in the Northeast, or online at bobbieeakes.com.

The ninth annual ABC Super Soap Weekend takes place Nov. 13-14 at Disney MGM Studios in Florida, where more than 30 actors from "All My Children," "One Life to Live" and "General Hospital" will be on hand to greet their fans.

Dear Paulette: I have been reading on the Internet that Grant Aleksander will be leaving "Guiding Light." Is this true? -Leeza C., Berlin, Conn.

Dear Reader: Unfortunately, it is. But it sounds as if he will be going out with a bang. According to Mary Dwyer-Dobbin, executive in charge of production for Procter & Gamble, "For the next few months, Grant will be featured in a riveting story line that will keep the Cooper and Spaulding families in the forefront well into the new year."

"Grant's gifted portrayal of this complex character is guaranteed to entertain our audience, as Grant has done for many years."

Family Best Bets

Sunday

6 p.m. on HALL

Movie: The Runaway

While on a "Huckleberry Finn"-inspired adventure, teenage pals Sonny and Luke (Dwayne McLaughlin, Cody Newton) find a human skeleton that may be one of the long-ago victims of a legendary serial killer. The case was never solved because it was 1940s Georgia, and all three victims were black. A new sheriff (Dean Cain), who doesn't share his predecessor's prejudices, reopens the case. Maya Angelou co-stars as a mysterious local mystic known as the Conjure Woman.

Tuesday

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: The Sentinel

Scotty Smalls (Tom Guiry) desperately wants to fit in with the other boys in his new neighborhood, but one thing stands in his way: They all play baseball, and he knows nothing about the sport. When the local star player (Mike Vitar) takes Scotty under his wing, Scotty learns the game and builds valuable friendships. This 1993 heartwarming story also stars Patrick Fennema and Marty York.

Wednesday

National Geographic

Those buried at Arlington Cemetery all have courageous stories to tell. The new special "Arlington: Field of Honor" commemorates the 140th anniversary of the first burial at the national resting place. Viewers get to take a look at the caretaking efforts made by those who work there. Those buried in Arlington include the Unknown Soldiers, John F. Kennedy, thousands of freed slaves and Challenger's astronauts.

Thursday

8 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Letters Home

This timely and touching new documentary gives a personal slant to the war in Iraq. As part of a New York Times project, letters home from U.S. soldiers who died overseas are read aloud. A "missive" from Pfc. Jesse Givens to his wife tells her to "Go out, side. Look at the stars and count them. Don't forget to smile." Second Lt. Leonard Cowherd sadly wrote "Some of these guys out here, Sarah, they are just kids."

Saturday

8:30 a.m. on HALL

Movie: That Dam Cat!

This 1965 Disney adventure features Hayley Mills as the owner of a feline with a nose for danger. When kitty comes home wearing evidence belonging to a missing woman, Patti (Mills) lets her imagination run wild. She hooks up with a detective (Dean Jones) to find the kidnapping victim. Roddy McDowall co-stars.

7 p.m. on 49-PAX

Movie: Babe

A piglet's charming tale leads from barnyard to sheepfold in this 1995 hit. Joining the livestock on a New Zealand farm, Babe the pig is adopted by a maternal sheep dog and makes friends with an old ewe, while the goose mistreats him and the cat is downright unfriendly. A candidate for Christmas dinner, Babe proves he is much too good to eat. Jim Henson's Creature Shop was responsible for the film's convincing talking-animal effects. James Cromwell stars.

November

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX The Rebel Billionaire: Branson's Quest for the Best Known for his adventurous spirit, British tycoon Richard Branson brings others along on an around-the-world trek as this unscripted series premieres with a two-hour episode. He puts the 16 young entrepreneurs in many of the same situations that brought him to his current station in life, then observes their responses and determines who will continue on with him to the next destination.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The 38th Annual CMA Awards
Expect more than a few chants of "Hell, yeah!" as the yearly country music ceremony is staged again at the legendary Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tenn. The line is the refrain of the huge hit "Redneck Woman" by relative newcomer Gretchen Wilson, one of the most-nominated artists and a scheduled performer here. Brooks & Dunn host the event; Toby Keith, Shania Twain and Kenny Chesney are among the other stars slated to perform.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Gilmore Girls

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Saving Private Ryan

Steven Spielberg won the best director Oscar for this 1998 World War II drama, whose opening portrayal of the Normandy invasion is one of the most powerful war sequences in movie history. Tom Hanks plays the captain in charge of a platoon assigned to go behind enemy lines and retrieve a private (Matt Damon) whose three brothers have all been killed. Edward Burns, Tom Sizemore and the particularly affecting Jeremy Davies also star.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Joey

Donna (guest star Kelly Preston, "Jerry Maguire") isn't sure what to do when her ex-husband wants to get back together, since she has developed feelings for Joey (Matt LeBlanc). In the concluding half of the new episode "Joey and the Dream Girl,"

She hesitates to tell Joey about the situation, but Gina (Drea de Matteo) fills in the blanks.

8 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Bridget Jones's Diary

Renée Zellweger scored a hit in this 2001 film, version of Helen Fielding's best seller about a woman and her two loves. One (Hugh Grant) is a seemingly ideal fellow who's more than a bit of a rogue, while the other (Colin Firth) appears less likely to have the inside track on Bridget's affections. Zellweger gained weight again in order to reprise her role for the movie's forthcoming sequel.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

ER

Ray Liotta makes a rare TV appearance by guest starring as a patient in "Time of Death," a new episode done in real time — with an on-screen visual device that counts the minutes. The man is an alcoholic ex-convict whose supposed stomachache actually is something far more drastic, putting the emergency room staff to the test as they try to save his life.

Joan then feels guilty for not having been able to prevent the result.

Star Trek: Enterprise

A new three-episode story arc concludes with "The Augments," as the Enterprise crew tries to stop evil Dr. Soong (guest star Brent Spiner, "Star Trek: The Next Generation") from generating a fresh army of his genetically engineered creations. The existing ones suddenly turn on him, resulting in a threat to Klingons. T'Pol (Jolene Blalock) has an overdue heart-to-heart with Trip (Connor Trinneer).

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB
Grounded for Life

Sean and Claudia (Donal Logue, Megyn Price) seek other jobs to make ends meet in the new episode "Mystery Dances." Cheyenne (JoAnna Garcia) isn't sure what to think when she finds out Van (Steve Howey) didn't really have to return to Denver as soon as he did in the new episode "Hello, I Must Be Going." Reba (Reba McEntire) is happy when Kyra (Scarlett Pomers) wants to move back home, until she learns the potential impact on Kyra's relationship with Brock (Christopher Rich).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
Third Watch

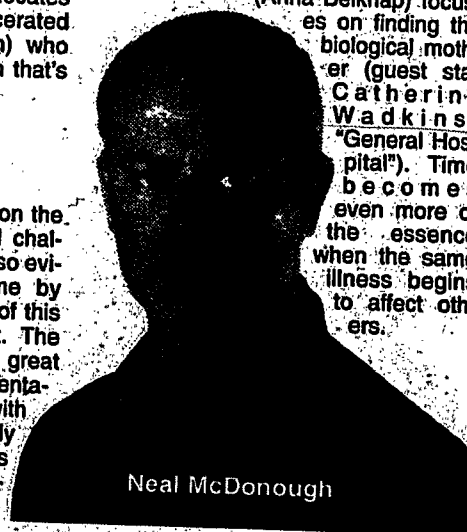

Upon returning to the precinct, Cruz (Tia Texada) counsels an assaulted city councilman in the new episode "Broken." The politician won't identify his attacker, and Cruz tries to determine why. Davis (Coby Bell) locates his father's killer, an incarcerated man (guest star Jamar Allah) who provides additional information that's hard for Davis to hear.

8 p.m. on TNN
Untold

Athletes face visible hurdles on the playing field, but the personal challenges they face aren't always so evident. The struggles overcome by sports stars provide the focus of this series hosted by Marv Albert. The premiere episode traces NFL great (and current Fox football commentator) Terry Bradshaw's battle with depression; he speaks candidly about his unhappiness at times during his years with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC
Medical Investigation

Dr. Connor (Neal McDonough) and his team seek a bone-marrow donor for a 10-year-old in the new episode "Little Girl." The adopted child's relatives are the likeliest suppliers, so Eva (Anna Belknap) focuses on finding the biological mother (guest star Catherine Wadkins, "General Hospital"). Time becomes even more of the essence when the same illness begins to affect others.
